COMPLAINT

- On multiple occasions I was discriminated against for having disabilities
- On multiple occasions I was denied reasonable accommodations, including, but not limited to: closed captioning tv, documentation provided prior to meetings, communication in writing, occurring in a variety of settings, including, but not limited to meetings, court hearings, that had already been approved and utilized on many different occasions and/or had been recommended by treating facilities, which caused me to not be able to accurately follow along, feeling lost and helpless, and missing important information.
- On multiple occasions I was retaliated against for advocating for my assertion of my ADA rights.
- On multiple occasions I was required to financially provide for transportation, etc. although I was deemed indigent, due to my disability,. by the court, although that policy dictated the Respondents were responsible to provide transportation and other associated costs.
- On multiple occasions the Respondents referred to my disabilities in derogatory terms which caused me to feel embarrassment. shame, and worthlessness.

STATEMENT OF THE CLAIM

I was discriminated against for having disabilities and the Respondents violated both the American's Disability Act of Act of 1990 and the Civil Rights Act of 1964. These violations resulted in deterioration of my physical, mental, and psychological well being, as well as, significant financial loss and standard of living.

The United States failed to mandate training regarding the ADA and the Civil Rights Act and failed to ensure my physical, mental, financial and psychological safety.

RELIEF

Order bi-annual training on all aspects of the ADA and Civil Rights Act, including but not limited to: rights of the disabled and their service dogs, how violations affect all aspects of the disabled individuals life and well being, etc. al.

Order sensitivity training for all Respondents

Order financial restitution

Order all Respondents to issue a written apology to the Plaintiff
